
Terry Holum – LEED AP

Senior Vice President, Estimating

Terry's nearly 20-year tenure with BYCOR has been an impressive progression through the ranks that began as a Superintendent.

Success was inevitable for Terry, whose meticulous attention to detail and early experience in pre-construction planning proved to be the catalyst for his advancement to Senior Vice President. His understanding of how a project comes together combined with his ability to build effective working relationships within his team has been invaluable.

Terry has an ability to masterfully oversee multiple concurrent projects resulting in a specialty with ground up construction. He has a keen management style and an inherent ability to work effectively with diverse personalities, from owners to property managers. His outstanding reputation for quality work, responsive service, and well-managed construction budgets has made him a requested favorite of several BYCOR clients.

As a LEED AP, Terry helps his clients achieve LEED compliance throughout the construction process.

Terry has overall responsibility for the project and maintains communication between the client and construction crew. He is charged with subcontractor negotiations, material and labor procurement, quality control, schedule adherence, and budget compliance.
